

Big Ideas Exercise

During the January 23rd public meeting that engaged over 80 residents from Sharonville, participants were asked to identify what they thought were big ideas or opportunities for Sharonville. Each participant was then given an opportunity to place priority dots under each idea based on what they thought should be the top three priorities. The table below summarizes each idea and how many first, second, and third priority votes each idea received from the participants. The ideas are ordered from highest to lowest priority based on a weighted result of all votes (i.e., a first priority vote equals 3 points, a second priority vote equals 2 points, and a third priority vote equals 1 point).
